

At first the flower boards were made with stereofoam measuring 2 meters x 1 meter or more covered with thin foam / spoons. To write the letters, knots are made from crepe paper, tied with wire, the name is suyok. With the passage of time, suyok is also made from thin spoons. Before using suyok, the letters were formed from light/dark yellow marigold flowers. Then with the increasing number of requests for condolences for opening and condolences, board flower makers get creative with paper spoons or spoons.

Suyok is widely used because it can be recycled. After the event is over, the board flowers will be picked up by the scavengers to be resold to the board flower makers in the market, which are then reassembled for the next buyer, including the fresh flowers being rearranged. Unlike Winny Florist, Winny Florist makes flower boards with new materials, which causes prices to be higher than the prices of board flower sellers in the market.
