

Catasetum is one type of epiphytic orchid (plants that live by way of living on other plants). This type of orchid is found in the Americas with the highest number of species in Brazil.

